Q1 2026 Fund Commentary

Commentary and opinions are provided by Beutel, Goodman & Company Ltd., Mackenzie Financial Corporation, and Portfolio Solutions Group

Market Commentary

Global equities declined over the first quarter of 2026 and underperformed global bonds, which posted a small loss. (All returns are in Canadian-dollar terms on a total-return basis.) Global equities lost momentum as tensions in the Middle East escalated, causing economic uncertainty. The conflict largely closed off the Strait of Hormuz to oil shipments, which sent oil prices higher, raising concerns about inflation and whether central banks will need to lift interest rates this year.

The U.S. equity market declined, posting a low single-digit loss. The financials sector was the weakest-performing sector. Canadian equities increased and outperformed U.S. equities, getting robust performance from the energy sector. EAFE equities posted a small gain, underperforming Canadian equities but outperforming U.S. equities. Equities in the U.K. and Japan performed well. Emerging markets equities also gained and outperformed their developed market peers, with equities in Brazil and Mexico performing well.

The FTSE Canada Universe Bond Index posted a total return of 0.2% over the quarter. Government bond prices increased, while government yields edged higher. Government bonds outperformed corporate bonds, which posted a small gain. Corporate bond prices were hindered from widening credit spreads (the difference in yield between corporate and government bonds). Securitization bonds posted the largest increase in the corporate bond sector. High-yield bond prices rose on a total-return basis and outperformed investment-grade corporate bonds.

Global bond yields moved higher over the quarter, and global bond prices posted a small loss. The Bank of Canada, U.S. Federal Reserve Board, Bank of England, European Central Bank and Bank of Japan all held their policy interest rates steady over the quarter. The yield on 10-year Government of Canada bonds rose from 3.43% to 3.47%. Sovereign bond yields in the U.S., the U.K., Germany and Japan also increased.

Performance

The Fund's government bond exposure contributed to performance. The Fund's allocation to maturities across the Canadian yield curve also contributed during the quarter. Canada's economic outlook diverged from the U.S. as growth weakened and the labour market cooled, prompting markets to reassess the BoC's policy path. While Canadian yields moved higher, the Fund's curve positioning captured relative value opportunities during the period.

IPC Private Wealth Visio Income Pool Series F

The Fund's corporate bond exposure detracted from performance. A holding in Royal Bank of Canada (4.00%, 2030/10/17) bonds detracted from performance during the quarter. Bonds within the financials sector underperformed the benchmark during the period, weighing on relative returns.

Stock selection in the financials, consumer discretionary and communication services sectors contributed to the Fund's performance.

Merck & Co. Inc. contributed to performance. The company reported full-year 2025 results that were slightly ahead of expectations and provided initial 2026 earnings guidance in line with conservative expectations. Despite an expected dip in free cash flow from anticipated patent expirations in 2026 and 2027, the company still projects capacity to fund a growing dividend, debt repayment and continued share buybacks. Progress with its acquisition strategy continued to resonate with investors, as two sizable deals in late 2025 were funded by the company's strong balance sheet. Key products showed continued momentum, while newer growth drivers such as Winrevair and Capvaxive delivered strong sales.

Restaurant Brands International Inc. contributed to performance after a well-received Investor Day improved visibility and reduced risk, clarifying a durable franchise-led growth algorithm, strengthening confidence in net restaurant growth and reinforcing capital allocation and balance sheet discipline.

Chubb Ltd. contributed to performance after achieving record earnings for both the quarter and the year, with strong contributions from all segments. In the sub-advisor's view, the global diversity of the business and the strong underwriting culture should continue to drive solid long-term performance.

Colliers International Group Inc. detracted from performance despite a constructive 2026 outlook, as the market focused on near-term softness rather than the longer-term earnings trajectory. Flat engineering organic growth from project delays, temporary investment management margin pressure tied to integration costs and broad AI disruption fears drove a sharp de-rating.

Boyd Group Services Inc. detracted from performance despite an earnings beat, as investors focused on the slower-than-expected pace of recovery. Same-store sales growth was lower than expectations, and higher oil prices renewed concerns about transport costs.

Portfolio Activity

The sub-advisor added to the Fund a holding in TransCanada PipeLines Ltd. (5.125%, 2056/08/20) bonds during the quarter, participating in the new issue. TransCanada PipeLines is a core Canadian energy infrastructure provider with a diversified portfolio of regulated and contracted pipeline assets. The addition reflects the sub-advisor's constructive view on the company's credit fundamentals and enhances the Fund's diversified exposure within the energy sector.

The sub-advisor increased the Fund's exposure to Hydro One Inc. (4.25%, 2035/01/04) bonds during the quarter because of the issuer's resilient fundamentals and favourable yield profile given its predictable, long-term contracted cash flows and stable credit metrics.

The sub-advisor sold the Fund's holding in Bank of Montreal (7.325%, 2082/11/26) limited recourse capital notes because of its long-dated structure and extension risk.

IPC Private Wealth Visio Income Pool Series F

The sub-advisor added to the Fund holdings in Canadian Apartment Properties Real Estate Investment Trust and Becton, Dickinson and Co. Kimberly-Clark Corp., Elevance Health Inc. and Versant Media Inc. were sold. Merck & Co. Inc. and Rogers Communications Inc. were reduced.

Outlook

The first quarter of 2026 marked a transition in market leadership, with supply issues and geopolitical risks overtaking demand cycles as the primary drivers of volatility. Escalating tensions in the Middle East pushed oil prices sharply higher, reviving inflation concerns and increasing uncertainty around economic growth without yet showing clear evidence of economic deterioration. While headline volatility has eased at times, elevated implied volatility suggests markets are increasingly pricing a wider range of outcomes as global fragmentation, energy constraints and supply chokepoints weigh on investor confidence.

In this environment, the sub-advisor's focus remains on portfolio resilience. The sub-advisor continues to emphasize broad diversification across regions and return drivers, avoiding overreliance on a smooth disinflation or predictable easing path. Core exposure to structural growth themes such as artificial intelligence remains important, but the sub-advisor is mindful of rising concentration risk and greater macro sensitivity in earnings expectations.

Within portfolios, alternatives, including managed futures, volatility strategies and risk parity, play a growing role in navigating shifting correlations. Fixed income remains a useful stabilizer, although less reliable than in past cycles, reinforcing the need for broader sources of diversification and liquidity as buffers against episodic shocks.
