Q4 2025 Fund Commentary

Commentary and opinions are provided by Mackenzie Financial Corporation

Market Commentary

The Bank of Canada held its policy interest rate at 2.25% in December. The decision was supported by positive data. Third-quarter 2025 gross domestic product rose 2.6%, while the labour market improved. The unemployment rate fell to 6.5% in November, its lowest level in 16 months, as the economy added over 50,000 jobs per month for three consecutive months.

A late-cycle easing bias continued to characterize much of global monetary policy, with pauses and slower paces of interest rate cuts becoming more common. The U.S. Federal Reserve Board (Fed) cut the range of its federal funds rate to 3.50%–3.75% by quarter-end.

Outlook

The sub-advisor believes that in Canada, the potential for softer growth, primarily because of lower immigration and housing weakness, suggests prolonged monetary easing.

As tariff uncertainty appears to have retreated somewhat, U.S. monetary policy uncertainty has risen. There are opposing views within the Fed, as well as the prospect of a new Fed chair.
