Q2 2026 Fund Commentary

Commentary and opinions are provided by EdgePoint Investment Group Inc., Mackenzie Financial Corporation, and Portfolio Solutions Group

Market Commentary

Global equities gained over the second quarter of 2026, with MSCI World Index gaining 15.6%, and significantly outperformed global bonds (all returns are in Canadian-dollar terms on a total-return basis). Global equities benefited as concerns surrounding geopolitical tensions in the Middle East eased, allowing investors to refocus on corporate earnings and economic fundamentals. Early in the quarter, conflict in the region raised concerns about global energy supplies and the potential for higher inflation. However, as the risk of a prolonged disruption to oil flows through the Strait of Hormuz diminished, investor sentiment improved. Continued investment in artificial intelligence (AI) infrastructure remained a key driver of equity market performance, supporting companies across the semiconductor, software and data centre industries.

The U.S. equity market led developed markets, supported by resilient earnings growth and strength in the information technology and industrials sectors. Canadian equities gained 7.0%, benefiting from strong performance in the financials and industrials sectors, although weakness in energy and materials limited broader market gains. EAFE equities posted a solid gain, supported by improving investor confidence and stable economic growth. Emerging markets equities returned 26.1% and outperformed developed markets, with Taiwan and South Korea benefiting from continued demand for AI-related semiconductors and advanced technology hardware.

The FTSE Canada Universe Bond Index posted a total return of 2.0%. Bond markets generated positive returns as lower oil prices reduced concerns about a sustained inflation shock. However, resilient economic data moderated expectations for significant interest rate cuts. Corporate bonds outperformed government bonds as credit spreads narrowed and investor confidence improved. Government bonds posted positive but more modest returns as bond yields remained relatively stable. High-yield and investment-grade corporate bonds both benefited from improving market sentiment and stronger risk appetite.

Global markets demonstrated resilience, recovering quickly from geopolitical uncertainty as investors focused on the longer-term outlook for earnings growth. While immediate concerns surrounding energy markets and inflation eased, several challenges remain. Trade uncertainty, elevated equity valuations and the need for continued earnings growth are likely to remain key themes through the second half of the year. Markets moved beyond the geopolitical shock more quickly than the broader economy, suggesting that investors should remain attentive to evolving economic and market conditions.

Performance

At the security level, Twist Bioscience Corp. and Applied Materials Inc. contributed to the Fund’s performance.

The health care sector contributed to performance because of strong security selection and holdings that delivered solid returns during the quarter. The industrials sector also contributed to performance because of positive security selection and holdings that performed well during the quarter.

At the security level, Franco-Nevada Corp. and Canadian Natural Resources Ltd. detracted from the Fund’s performance.

The information technology sector detracted from performance, primarily because of a negative allocation effect and an underweight position in an outperforming sub-sector. The financials sector also detracted from performance because of negative security selection and holdings that lagged during the quarter.

An allocation to, and selection in, government bonds contributed to performance.

Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce (3.65% due 2032/01/13) contributed to performance. The position benefited from coupon income and supportive credit performance, as strong earnings, improved profitability and a solid capital position reinforced confidence in the issuer's debt-servicing capacity.

Dream Industrial REIT (2.539% due 2026/12/07) detracted from performance. The bond's low coupon and short remaining maturity limited return potential relative to the benchmark, despite healthy occupancy, rental growth and lower leverage at the issuer.

Portfolio Activity

The sub-advisor added CoStar Group Inc., Ryanair Holdings PLC and Marsh & McLennan Cos. Inc.

The sub-advisor increased TE Connectivity PLC, Amazon.com Inc. (Amazon) and Tesco PLC. In the sub-advisor’s view, these businesses are trading at attractive valuations, and proprietary insights allow the Fund to acquire future position growth in the companies at attractive share prices.

The sub-advisor sold Nippon Sanso Holdings Corp., LKQ Corp., MinebeaMitsumi Inc. and Ross Stores Inc. as the Fund’s portfolio was reallocated toward more attractive opportunities.

The sub-advisor reduced Applied Materials Inc., Twist Bioscience Corp. and Rambus Inc. to take advantage of share price volatility.

Outlook

The third quarter of 2026 begins with markets having moved quickly from crisis pricing to relief pricing, as the immediate risk of a severe energy shock has faded following a fragile U.S.-Iran agreement and reduced concern over prolonged disruption through the Strait of Hormuz. Relief is warranted, but not complacency. Energy systems take time to normalize, with tanker positioning, insurance markets, inventories, production capacity and Qatari natural gas supply still working through the after-effects of the shock. Lower oil prices should help headline inflation and ease some pressure on central banks, but inflation pass-through may still appear with a lag in areas such as airfares, electricity, food and fertilizer. As a result, central banks remain cautious: the Bank of Canada is likely boxed into a hold given weak growth but persistent wage and productivity pressures, while the U.S. economy has not yet made a convincing case for U.S. Federal Reserve Board rate cuts.

Against that macroeconomic backdrop, earnings remain the key source of market validation, and AI continues to dominate the investment narrative. The AI buildout is real, supporting capital spending, semiconductors, data centres, power infrastructure, hardware, software and parts of global trade, particularly in Asia. However, the quality of reported earnings deserves more scrutiny. Some recent earnings strength may reflect unrealized mark-to-market gains on AI-related equity stakes rather than recurring operating profits, creating the risk of a circular feedback loop between public valuations, private valuations and reported earnings. We remain constructive but more selective: favouring U.S. equities while avoiding excessive concentration in the narrowest AI leaders, staying underweight Canada and developed international equities, and maintaining selective exposure to emerging markets tied to the AI supply chain.

Fixed income duration remains useful as a stabilizer. Credit requires caution, and alternatives continue to play an important role in providing diversification, liquidity and flexibility as markets test whether AI strength, lower inflation and easier energy conditions can justify already elevated expectations.
